

CATHERINE WOLF

Catherine Wolf enjoys clashing with Kevin Bacon and Jill Hennessy as a recurring guest star in the Showtime series, City On A Hill, playing Rosa Congemi. Other TV appearances include guest starring on Blue Bloods as Aunt Sophia, The Blacklist and numerous episodes of Law and Order as well as The Jury, Sex and the City, and Cagney and Lacey. One of her favorite roles was the Angel of Death, Nurse Carol Grace, on the TV series OZ. Wolf's film work includes the Oscar nominated film "Little Children" playing Jennifer Connelly's mother (Todd Fields, director), "Roadie" which premiered at the Tribeca Film Festival, (Michael Cuesta, director), "Can't Dance" winner of the Founders' Choice Award, "What's Your Sign" directed and conceived by Jack Gindi. On Broadway Ms. Wolf was seen for a moment as Mrs. Birling in An Inspector Calls (Stephen Daldry, director) and in The Innocents and Otherwise Engaged, both directed by Harold Pinter. Off Broadway Ms. Wolf was seen in Fugue (Judith Ivey, director). In the original award winning production of Cloud Nine directed by Tommy Tune. Ms. Wolf played the triple role of Ellen/Mrs. Saunders/Betty. Other Off Broadway productions include Beau Jest, The Countess and I Can't Keep Running In Place. Regionally Ms. Wolf has worked at The Cincinnati Playhouse in the Park, ACT (Seattle), The Folger Theatre (Washington, D.C.), Philadelphia Drama Guild, Pittsburgh Public Theatre, Chautauqua Opera Theatre just to name a few. Ms. Wolf is the Founding Producing Director of The Colleagues Theatre Company whose mission is to find and create work for the seasoned professional artists. The New York Times hailed The Colleagues Theatre Company as "admirable – and valuable."